

God and the Natural Sciences with reflections on the recent atheist convention, and on the views of the well known atheist, Richard Dawkins

Speaker: Revd Dr Stephen Ames
Wednesday 23 June, 8pm

at the Study Centre, Yarra Theological Union, Box Hill

Best entry via 34 Bedford St.
Entry by donation. Tea and coffee

Dr Stephen Ames is an Honorary Fellow at the University of Melbourne, where he lectures in the History and Philosophy of Science program. Dr Ames is a founding member of Social Policy Connections and is the first chair of the Yarra Institute for Religion and Social Policy.

divine mathematics

The axiom of God is a circle of which the center is nowhere, and the circumference is nowhere.
— M. Heidegger

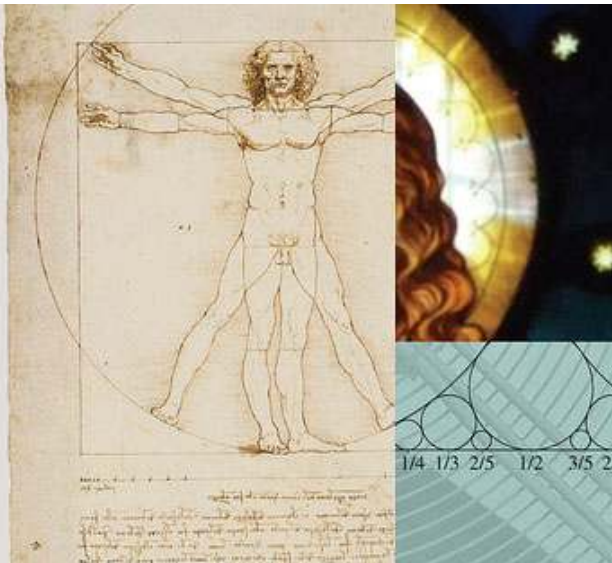

Photo courtesy "xtinabot", flickr. CC

As a thought-starter for this discussion, you may wish to read the articles on the website of "Science, Religion & Society at Trinity College". Another good article is featured on the SPC website: "Making Sense of Faith in an Age of Science and Technology" by John R Pilbrow, Emeritus Professor of Physics, Monash University.

Photo: "Shubnam", flickr CC

Sponsored jointly by Social Policy Connections

www.socialpolicyconnections.com.au PO Box 505, Box Hill VIC 3128

Ph: (03) 9890 1077 ; Mobile 0432 991 085; email: admin@socialpolicyconnections.org.au and the Yarra Institute for Religion and Social Policy

Box 505, Box Hill VIC 3128 Ph: (03) 9898-4777; email: admin@yarrainstitute.org.au

www.yarrainstitute.org.au